Vendor	Contact Name	Email Address	Explanation of No Bid Submittal
Water Work Systems	Chuck Kronk	ckronk@waterworkssystem.com	“We did submit our bid in the slide gates and actuators to the general contractor bidders.”
Burns and McDonnell	Stephen Boden	sboden@burnsmcd.com	“We downloaded it, evaluated and it wasn’t the right opportunity for our firm”
Rotor Electric Company of Michigan	Benjamin Rosenberg	brosenberg@rotorelectric.com	“Rotor Electric submitted bids to the General Contractors as a subcontractor”
Jett Pump & Valve, LLC.	Jennifer Greene	jgreene@jettump.com	“JETT Pump submitted a proposal for the specified WEIL sump pumps to the contractors on the interested bidder’s list.”
Weiss Construction Company, LLC.	Joe Mulville	jmulville@weiss-construction.com	“Normally we would have bid this project. However, we are very busy and could not break any estimating resource free from other prior commitments.”
HDR	James Scholl	James.Scholl@hdrinc.com	“HDR is an engineering consulting business. We did not bid on this project because the request requires the delivery of construction services.”
Double Jack Electric Co.	Ian Nash	iann@doublejackelectric.com	“Project was not a good fit for our company to bid competitively with the workload we currently have scheduled for the near future. The EC for this project will have to be very dependent on work performed by others and may become more like service work where manpower will have to bounce around from site to site. Our service crew has been committed to a fairly long-term project.”

Smith’s Waterproofing, LLC.	Brandon Smith	brandon@swcdllc.com	“We quoted our small scope of work to the general contractors. The overall job was outside of our specialty.”
Kennedy Industries	Keith Sikaitis	ksikaitis@kennedyind.com	“We were only looking at the project as an Equipment Supplier, not a Contractor ”
HESCO	Heather Walker	Heather.walker@hesco-mi.com	“We did bid equipment for this project. However, we bid directly to the general contractors for their bid to GLWA”
Arcadis	Mike Halwani	Mike.halwani@arcadis.com	“This is a construction contract, outside of vendor’s normal scope of services.”
Commercial Contracting Corporation	Matt Stone	Matt.Stone@cccnetwork.com	“Upon review of the bid documents, the project scope did not pass our go/no-go evaluation – other current bid opportunities fit our business better than this one. We wish GLWA success in the procurement and execution of this project.”
